

In this week we learn about the importance of deep learning and how it's used in the day by day such as: in medicine it's used to find anomalies in radiology images, use to improve the experience of patient and in the arboreal's scenery is used to recognize the species of trees and other characteristics like dap and cap of tree.